UNIQUE Therapeutic Mats®

Runner Mat Series™

The demands of today's busy world often take a toll on the working person's body. Unique Therapeutic Mats® not only reduce fatigue and discomfort associated with long-term standing, but our ergonomic design interacts with the body to reduce stress and strain while promoting better posture, proper circulation, and a sense of well-being.

Aches and pains related to static standing are greatly reduced with the use of anti-fatigue mats which in turn increases productivity and reduces absenteeism. Don't just take our word for it ... CCOHS (Canadian Centre for Occupational Health and Safety) recommends anti-fatigue mats in work areas.

Unlike most anti-fatigue mats on the market, we have engineered the Unique Therapeutic Mat® line via the combination of a durable urethane top membrane and 5/8" urethane foam. The chemicals used in the processing plant are custom blended to our specifications in order to create the best possible result: a mat that acts as a shock absorber reacting to the slightest shift of your body. All of our products are molded, thus creating a uniform mat with a consistent bevel along all edges and a flush fit with the floor. For over a decade we have manufactured mats with safety foremost in our design, without compromising the comfort level.

The lightweight design is available in three attractive colors and many different sizes ranging from 1.5' x 2.5' up to 8' x 4'.

UNIQUE Therapeutic Mats® Runner Mat Series™

IC Urethane Products Inc. ensures that the environmental impact of our production is kept to a minimum. We use no VOCs or PVC in our process or end product. Manufacturing does not release harmful gases associated with vinyl materials and other rubber products.

Plant generated waste is reclaimed and turned into new products. Our 100% polyurethane mats can be easily recycled at the end of their lifecycle, greatly reducing the amount of waste going to landfills.

Our Research and Development team continues to develop initiatives to further reduce waste, and strives to find the right balance between manufacturing practices and being an eco-friendly company.

We believe that high efficiency and quality create both value and sustainability of the planet's resources. By producing a quality product that can be used and reused for so many purposes and one that will withstand the test of time, we are reducing the amount of waste for future generations.
